DEDICATION

Although it is difficult to set apart one among so many who have devoted their lives unselfishly to Millsaps College and its students, some few among this faculty stand out even among their colleagues as the student ideal of a professor. Such, we believe, is Dr. Frank Miller Laney, Jr.

He combines to a rare degree the qualities which go to make up a truly fine teacher. His keen mind and profound scholarship are matched by a love of his subject which enables him to enthrall his listeners as few other lecturers can. We are caught up in another world, one of remote times, where men come wonderfully to life; and we find ourselves richer for the experience.

Dr. Laney leaves one with an impression of dignity, yet naturalness; of industry and seriousness, yet relaxed good humor and pleasantness. No student has gone to him and come away without a feeling of being welcome. To Dr. Laney can truly be attached the well-worn phrase, "a gentleman and a scholar."

To you, because you have made your life a credit to your school and your profession, but most of all, because you have inspired so many in their development as students and as personalities, we—the editor and staff—dedicate the 1962 BOBASHELA.

DR. FRANK M. LANEY, JR.

The small and somewhat isolated area, which is the Millsaps campus, is, because of its size and isolation, subject to a variety of moods. These moods may come and go as quickly as a spring shower, or linger as long as winter bleakness. They may possess the hilarity of a snow storm or the drowsy lassitude of Indian summer. The entire campus population may be motivated by the moods of the weather, approaching holidays, or final exams.

More often, however, these general moods serve only as a background for the individual excitement of a new dress, the individual monotony of a study routine, or the individual humor of a dorm room bull session.

-----The Excitement-----

Only sometimes is the excitement a general thing. It is general on the first day of school when, "Gosh, I'm glad to see you again!"'s are ill concealed beneath myriad, "How was your summer?"'s. It is shared by all on "those" Fridays before Christmas or spring holidays when eight o'clocks aren't so bad. The entire campus reflects it when posters cover the Union doors, and Greeks support their candidates with mass movements to the polls, when white dresses and smiles announce that it's rush again. The excitement is an unpredictable phenomenon; it can result from the United States' first astronaut, an unexpected pinning, or maybe just the announcement that "La Dolce Vita" is playing downtown.

- The Humor -

Millsaps laughs self-consciously, mixing genuine amusement with the feeling of "This is really kid stuff." The Purple and White echoes the general sentiment that "Stunt Night is silly"; the student agrees, then participates whole-heartedly in the event. Freshman Day is branded "a farce," but a crowd is always on hand for the crowning of the Freshman king and queen. The humor of the college involves a subtle tradition too. "Gort's" weekly antics must be commented upon (even if not always understood); the cafeteria's contributions to "better living" have to be joked about; and absolutely no record may ever be played in the grill without a grimace and an accompanying, "Who in the world played that?"

The Routine — — — — —

Holidays and special events are frequent only on the calendar. Between each particularly significant date lie innumerable eight to ten page papers, "Inside Lane Exit Only . . . Check Books at Desks" 's, and Saturday morning language labs. Endless repetition breeds boredom, and to protect himself from it the student constructs a routine, a pattern he can follow so unconsciously that the boredom can be ignored. Week-ends are only slightly disrupting, and on Monday the student moves again unconsciously through the same routine, having only to remember to dress up for Sunday lunch in the cafeteria, and that on Wednesday, E period is at ten.

They are interested in boys and chemical spectroscopy; the carburetors of 1962 Lincolns and Juvenalian satire; what meats are being served for lunch and the Berlin crisis. Some work constantly to really BE somebody; some just are; and some don't care. Each student has his own private interests, his own particular motives; but there are also common ones occurring when individual interests overlap. These usually result in a close-knit "grill club," yet sometimes produce a musical, win a basketball game, or publish a weekly newspaper.

The Interests

The Purpose

The Millsaps student studies because he has to, because he must "make his grades," because military service will be deferred, because this is an age demanding that a person have a college education. But the music major may read Wordsworth because he "likes it," the novice chemist may delay his studying to attend a concert, and the purpose is then partially fulfilled.

The purpose is not the overambitious one of producing an "universal man," but simply the preservation of an individual capable of understanding—or, at least, aware of the presence of—disciplines other than his own. The Millsaps student studies to be a doctor, to be a minister, to be a teacher; he learns to be an individual.

On frequent work-filled days, Millsaps students will creep from their studies to curse the institution which seems to be spending their youth. They will spend hours mutually consoling each other with Job-like moans concerning such pat and well-turned problems as the "neuter social life," bad food and bad service, and the inexhaustible and ever popular complaint of Chapel.

But when the need arises to promote the school that strange phenomenon, the paradoxical loyalty of a Millsaps student, blooms forth. Comprehensives are hallmarks of quality. Unsubsidized athletics are as noble and soul cleansing as Galahad or the Scout motto. Phrases like "privately supported" and "limited enrollment" seem as meaningful as "one nation" and "indivisible." The Millsaps student has a real awareness of the uniqueness of his school and his outlook betrays this feeling. He scorns the things which are labeled collegiate. He would rather die than go to a pep rally, talk the Ivy League vernacular, or do the twist. Yet he goes, talks, and does. But it's different. It's a laugh-at-myself, know-something-you-don't difference. This two-sided coin is Millsaps' loyalty. The critical stance and cynical laugh is the Millsaps fight song, victory yell, and Alma Mater—a manifestation of love, but a love that would be "corny" if expressed in any other way than a partially sarcastic, partially concerned, partially fond comment on the grill or Founders Hall.

ADMINISTRATION

The President of Millsaps College

Dr. Homer Ellis Finger, the able President of Millsaps College, took up this administrative post in 1952. He received his B.A. from this college and continued his study at Yale where he received his B.D. He has done advanced work at Union Theological Seminary and has received the honorary title of Doctor of Divinity from Centenary College.

Not only is President Finger a very competent administrator, but he takes a personal interest in every aspect of his college community. He possesses the enviable ability of being able to call every Millsaps student by his name. He has the best interest of the college at heart at all times and acts accordingly with the genuine friendliness of a true gentleman.

ADMINISTRATIVE COMMITTEE

PRESIDENT HOMER ELLIS FINGER, JR.

JAMES W. WOOD

Mr. James Wood, Millsaps' Business Manager, joined the administration in 1947. He received a B.S. Degree from Mississippi State and a B.A. from Millsaps.

MRS. GLENN PATE

Mrs. Pate, a new member of the Administrative Committee, serves as Dean of Women and advisor of Sigma Lambda. Mrs. Pate received her B.A. from Millsaps and has done further study at Tulane University.

PAUL D. HARDIN

Mr. Paul Hardin serves Millsaps as Registrar and Associate Professor of English. He received his B.A. Degree from Millsaps College, his M.A. from Duke University, and has done further graduate work at the University of Southern California.

JAMES S. FERGUSON

Dr. James S. Ferguson, Professor of History, also serves as Academic Dean of Millsaps. He holds a B.A. from Millsaps, an M.A. from LSU, a Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina, and has done advanced graduate work at Yale University as a Ford Scholar.

JOHN H. CHRISTMAS

Mr. John Christmas joined the administration this fall as Dean of Students. He holds a B.S. from Millsaps, an M.A. from Mississippi Southern, and has done further study at Mississippi Southern and LSU. Dean Christmas is a member of the American Personnel and Guidance Association.

FEATURES

Susan Barry, Top Beauty, 1962

From a campus of lovely women the BOBASHELA presents one of the loveliest, Miss Susan Barry. Susan, a sophomore from Jackson, transferred from the University of Mississippi in the fall. Taking an active part in campus life at Millsaps, she is a psychology major and a member of Chi Omega. In the winter Susan was chosen Kappa Alpha Rose by the men of this order.

Early in November the BOBASHELA held its annual elections to choose twenty coeds for the 1961-62 Beauty Review. A panel of five judges met each candidate individually at a coffee on the afternoon of November 15. The same evening the twenty nominees were presented formally. The panel selected ten semifinalists, and from this group they chose five finalists. The 1962 BOBASHELA now proudly presents the top five beauties of the Millsaps campus.

CYNTHIA JOHNSTON

Cynthia, a senior English major from Grenada, has been featured two times previously as a campus beauty. Her activities include President's List, Eta Sigma, K.D.E., Women's Council, cheerleader, and Chi Omega.

JEAN FRENCH

A sophomore from Opelousas, Louisiana, Jean was a semi-finalist in the 1961 Bobashela Beauty Review. Before coming to Millsaps she held several other titles. At Millsaps she is a member of Chi Omega.

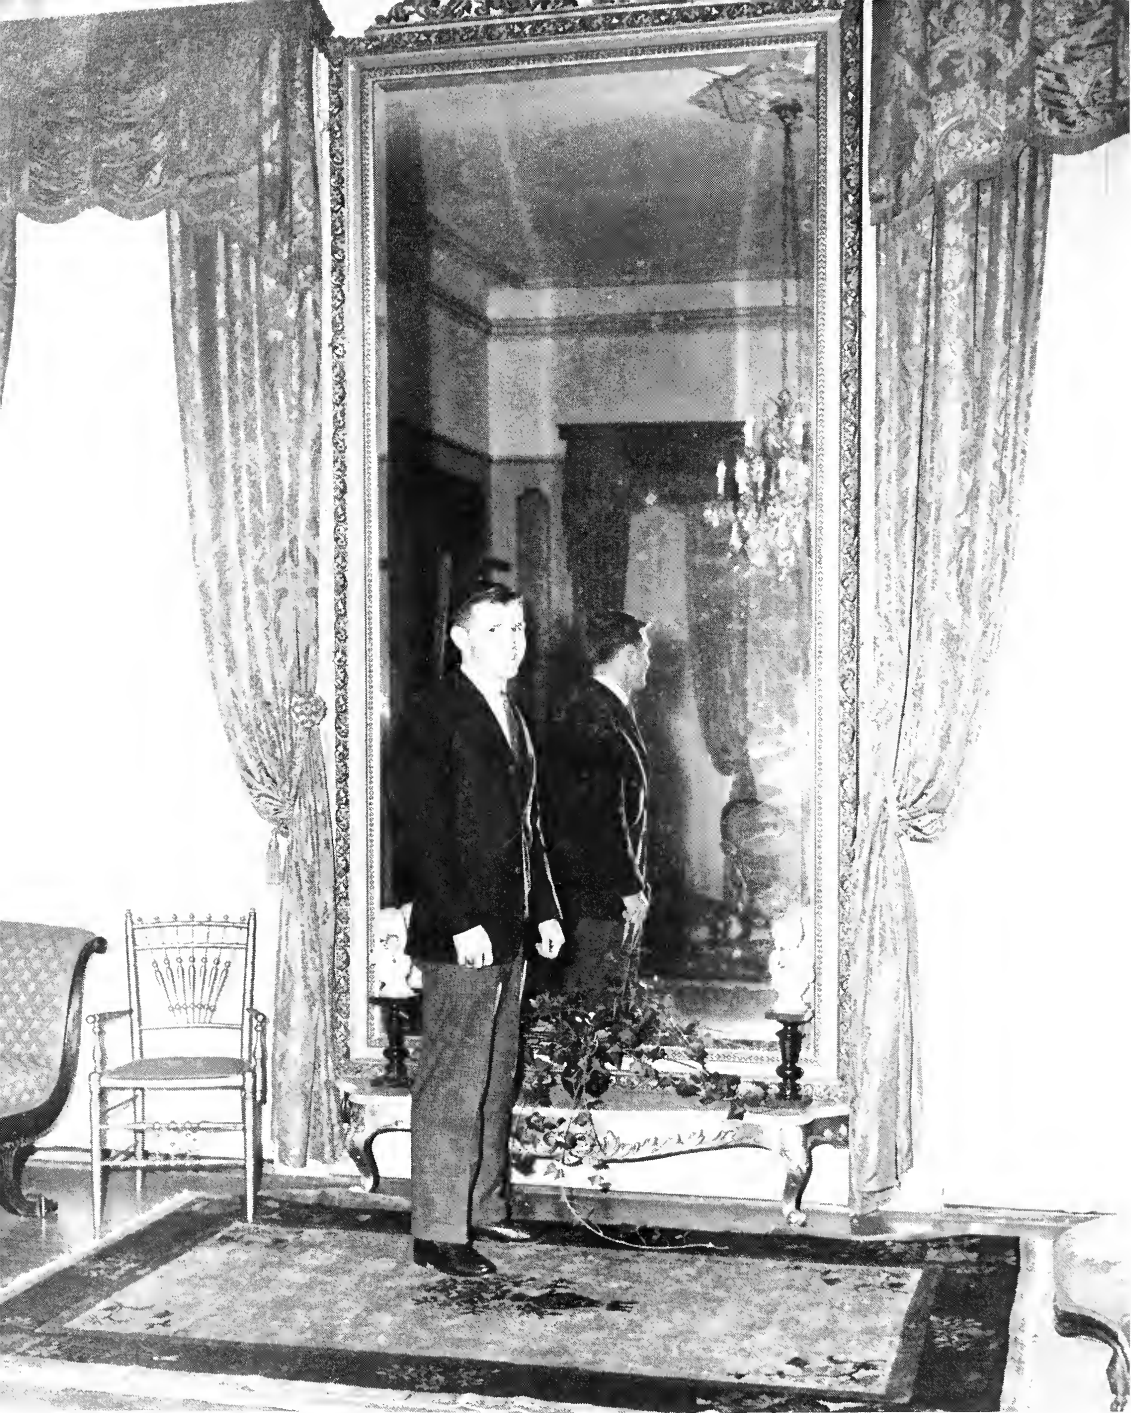

KAYE GREEN

Frequently seen hurrying on her way to the music hall, Kay is well known as a Madrigal Singer. In the fall she appeared in the Players' production of "The Browning Version." Kay is a freshman from Clinton, a Kappa Delta.

ANN PERRY

Ann, an elementary education major, is a senior from Crystal Springs. Among her activities and honors she has served as president of K.D.E., secretary of Chi Omega, and a featured beauty in the 1960 Bobashela.

Homecoming maids: Patsy Rodden, Cynthia Johnston, Shirley Anne Carr, Marilyn Stewart.

Old Grads, A New Queen

Attending Homecoming activities all day Saturday, September 30, 1961, were alumni from over Mississippi and the nation. A highlight of the afternoon variety show was the announcement of the Homecoming Queen and the presentation of her court. Though elected several days prior to the event, the identity of the queen was not revealed until this time. The queen and her court then spent a busy day entertaining former graduates. Immediately following a banquet the alumni attended the Millsaps-Sewanee football game. In spite of occasional rain, the court was presented and Miss Miller was crowned during the half-time festivities by President Tinger.

ACTIVITIES

The Activities section of any annual consists of a widely divergent, for the most part unrelated, group of pursuits which can be classified in no other way than under the ambiguous title, "Student Activities." These pursuits range from such organizations as the Singers or Players which are closely related to curricular work to student government which is an entity in itself. Although the title, "Activities," does embrace a wide variety of endeavors, it still encompasses the body of work which is second only to the curricular in the student's attentions. Likewise, these extracurricular pursuits take a back seat only to the curricular in rewarding the student with rich experience and knowledge.

Senate Elections Committee

The Student Senate, Millsaps' official student legislative body, represents as nearly as possible, a fair cross section of the entire student body. Its weekly meetings serve as sounding boards for student problems and furnish a medium for the solution of such situations. The Senate functions primarily to make regulations not covered by law and college rules, to supervise elections, to administer the apportionment of funds, and to grant charters to student organizations. Four standing committees co-ordinate Union affairs, social activities, special entertainment, and parking regulations.

Student Senate in Session

WOMEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Women's Council

Women's Student Government at Millsaps functions to establish regulations and restrictions for women resident students. Its complex organization includes sorority representatives, dormitory assistants, members of dormitory councils, and the housemothers. Mrs. Glen Pate, Dean of Women, serves as general advisor of the entire organization.

The Dormitory Council, an institution in many ways paralleling a Senate Sub-committee, meets weekly in each women's dormitory to deal with "matters concerning the general welfare of the resident women." These matters include the tabulation of reprimands, issuing of "campus's," etc.

There are twenty five steps from the first floor of the Millsaps Student Union to the second (if you count the landing and either the top or bottom step). Up and down these steps at least a thousand times daily plods the BOBASHELA staff. Where are they going? What will they do when they get there? Who knows (don't ask the members of the BOBASHELA staff).

When they are headed up the stairs, one can usually guess that they are going to their grotto to work. "To work" usually means any one of a hundred things.

It sometimes means that they are going to listen to records. What records? Anything from the Louvin Brothers to Edith Piaf to "Hitler's Inferno" to Leontyne Price.

It sometimes means that they are going to dance to records. This reason only applies to one artistic staff member who has in her repertory the best of Pavlova, Ray Bolger and Bubbles O'Macnamarra.

How is it that any thing is accomplished amid the pat of the soft shoe, Mohammed El-Bakkar and his Oriental Ensemble, a typewriter which plays Beethoven's Fifth, and the gurgle of some benevolent soul who sees fit to water a demising rubber tree plant (the symbol of a previous rule)?

One can guess that it gets done through plenty of sweat sweated somewhere between Viva Flamenco and Renata Tarago. It is also done in a spirit of camaraderie and mutual good will that is symbolized when one member yells to another, "Bobashela." (The legend is that this word is Indian for good friend, but it has come to attention through more reliable sources that it is really Yiddish for a-good-time-was-had-by-all.)

MAJOR FACTS, a pocket-sized handbook containing everything from cafeteria hours to a floor plan of the Major's tomb, is the new student's introduction and guide to Millsaps. As a student-edited publication, it aims not only at giving an omnibus condensation of college regulations and procedures, but a resume of traditions and un-official customs.

The position of MAJOR FACTS editor is an appointive one, selected by the president of the student body with the advice of the Dean of Students. The 1961-62 editor of MAJOR FACTS was senior Ralph Sowell.

The Millsaps Arts Festival is a young tradition which the STYLUS and the Art Department hope to make into an old one. Each fall, examples of the accomplishments of students in the plastic arts are exhibited and works of campus writers are read, all to the background of gentle jazz and the omnipresent gurgle of coffee. On the night of the Festival, the fall edition of STYLUS appears and is vended among the artsy folk gathered there. They generally buy, thus adding to the prevailing warm atmosphere of camaraderie.

STYLUS, the Millsaps literary magazine, is the publication which provides the struggling young writers of the campus the opportunity to struggle writing. Twice a year, before the STYLUS is issued, various and sundried poets, short story writers, playwrights, and essayists struggle up from their garrets and cellars to submit their work to the STYLUS staff. This staff then struggles against artistic temperament (you can't publish my sonnet until I'm dead), journalistic temperament (we can't print your book until we finish these monogrammed Christmas cards), and administrative temperament (we are sure you can get enough money with rummage sales). Then everybody struggles against the average student temperament (Buy a STYLUS? What's a STYLUS?) The 1961-62 STYLUS was edited by Senior Jim Leverett.

The PURPLE and WHITE, Millsaps campus newspaper, is designed to supply the community with a weekly record of college history. A secondary purpose is to provide an airing ground for current campus views on pertinent topics of college life. The paper was founded by the fifth class of Millsaps College on November 18, 1898, and was called the COLLEGIAN. In 1908-09 the COLLEGIAN merged into a weekly publication and was renamed in honor of the athletic association, PURPLE and WHITE.

Participation on the campus newspaper is on a voluntary basis, and the PURPLE and WHITE serves as a laboratory and means of gaining valuable experience for those interested in all phases of journalism.

The PURPLE AND WHITE office—its occupants call it the “room at the top”—is the nucleus of an unofficial, yet very real, institution, the “society” of the second floor Union. The rather cramped two rooms which house Mill-saps’ official student publication are always the scene of perpetual activity, sometimes pertaining to the paper, sometimes not. With each week comes a new deadline, a new crisis. Hasty trips are made to the printer; lights burn till two in the Union; last minute “fill-in” stories are typed; a new pin or two is added to the “voodoo doll”; and, somehow, another P&W appears on time.

FINE ARTS

MILLSAPS PLAYERS PRESENTS...

The freshman looked mortified. "Whadaya mean you don't like plays!" boomed an upperclassman wearing sunglasses, a smudge or two of make-up, and a sweatshirt bearing a rather esoteric Greek legend. "At Millsaps EVERYBODY like plays!" And a true statement it is. The College turns out in force at the mere mention of those magic words, "The Millsaps Players Presents. . .," knowing it's time for another "really big one" from Lance Goss and gang. The Players had a big year. The rip-snortin' Broadway musical hit "Destry Rides Again" opened the season with a (pardon) BANG. B. K. Denton and Tink Coulet lead the posse. December saw the best of current avant garde theater, "The Zoo Story," coupled with "The Browning Verson" in what the Gossites called, "Arena '61." The New Year brought Hal Holbrook and his fabulous "Mark Twain Tonight!" to the campus under Players' auspices. In March, the winds ushered in "Romanoff and Juliet" in cooperation with the currently homeless Jackson Little Theater, and the April-May attraction was Rodgers and Hart's witty "Babes in Arms" both in a campus production and later, on tour of Greenland, Iceland, and Baffin Bay for the USO. To repeat a Players' adage, "This may well have been a good year."

SINGERS

The Millsaps Singers is one of the most integral and popular extracurricular groups (or organizations) on campus.

The Concert Choir, one of the finest choirs in the South, has long been a prime representative of Millsaps College in the state and nation. This group, directed by Mr. Leland Byler, sings music of all types ranging from popular medleys to large concert works. During the spring of 1962 this Choir sang with the Memphis and Jackson Symphonies and recorded complete worship music programs for presentation over nationwide radio as part of the Methodist Hour.

Each spring the Concert Choir presents a tour program in different churches in Mississippi and other states. The tour is highlighted by the initiation of all new members and "Tap Night" where SOC, women's "honorary," and the Mother's Club, Men's "honorary," tap the members chosen for this honor. To its members the Concert Choir breaks all social organization barriers and forms one of the closest knit of the campus organizations.

Madrigals

This year under the direction of Mr. Lowell Byler, the Madrigal Singers are continuing to build their reputation as an outstanding small choral group. They serve as Millsaps' representative to the Jackson area, singing at civic clubs, churches, and school functions.

A versatile choir, the Madrigals perform in a variety of forms, ranging from Renaissance to contemporary, and including both secular and sacred music. This Spring, on a week-end concert tour, the group appeared in Biloxi, New Orleans, Columbia, and Laurel.

The Chapel Choir under the direction of Mr. Charles Sims is open to any Millsaps student who enjoys choral music. This group's main function is singing for weekly chapel services. The Chapel Choir joins the other two choral organizations in the fall semester for the annual presentation of Handel's Messiah and the Feast of Carols.

CHRISTIAN COUNCIL

The Christian Council is the student agency which plans and co-ordinates campus-wide religious activities on an interdenominational scale. The group's membership is composed of the president of each of the campus' religious groups along with one other elected representative from each group.

During the school year the Council sponsors a Religious Emphasis Week in which a guest speaker is invited to conduct a three day series of activities appropriate to a theme selected by the Council. Each Wednesday morning and also on days preceding various holidays a service of Holy Communion is conducted in Fitzhugh Chapel by some clerical member of the faculty. The Council is also responsible for the printing and circulation of weekly chapel programs.

Religious life at Millsaps is under the direction of Mr. Jack L. Woodward. Mr. Woodward, who served his first year as Religious Life Director in 1961-62, is a graduate of Millsaps. He has done additional graduate work at Southern Methodist University where he received a B.D. in 1954. In addition to advising the Christian Council and supervising interdenominational activities, Mr. Woodward often represents the college's admissions office on travels throughout the state.

Director of Religious Life

The Women's Christian Workers is an organization primarily for co-eds interested in church-related vocations, but all women students are invited to participate. The group offers its members fellowship, guidance, and the opportunity for practical experience in religious work through participation in service projects. The programs of the WCW are designed to familiarize its members with problems that the religious worker often meets in the field. Working in conjunction with the Ministerial League, the WCW makes monthly visits to the Old Ladies' Home where members conduct worship services.

WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN WORKERS

YWCA

The Young Women's Christian Association, a national organization committed to Christian ideals and high standards, has as its purpose to develop young women into better citizens and Christians. A sincere interest in promoting Christian ideals is its only membership requirement.

Each year individual members adopt "little sisters" from the Methodist Children's Home. The "little sisters" are entertained with suppers, parties, and trips to special events such as the annual Feast of Carols.

Members of the "Y" meet twice monthly for programs of fellowship, worship, action projects.

The Ministerial League, an organization open to all pre-ministerial students regardless of denomination, is designed to acquaint the student with problems facing the ministry and to provide opportunities for experience in fields such as local mission service.

Each semester the group is responsible for the printing of class schedule cards given to each student during registration. The League also sponsors the Galloway Award, which is given yearly to the pre-ministerial student who has prepared the best sermon. All other official projects of the League are carried on jointly with the WCW.

MINISTERIAL LEAGUE

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union is an organization serving as a connecting link between the Baptist student and his church. Its weekly meetings are planned to encourage the spiritual growth of Baptist college students and to challenge them to better Christian living.

The BSU distinguished itself particularly in 1962 with its rather enigmatic program announcements, the most notable being some sort of festivity featuring "mint juleps." Aside from provocative programs, the organization, in co-operation with the Baptist churches in Jackson, sponsors a progressive supper, which includes a tour of the city's Baptist churches.

The Canterbury Association is an organization of students who are members of the Anglican Communion. Canterbury Association is committed to a program of worship, study, stewardship, evangelism, Christian social action, and ecumenicity. Each week Canterbury sponsors a variety of activities, including a celebration of the Holy Eucharist, Evening Prayer (or The Litany, in Lent), and a discussion meeting. The association also is one of the sponsors of the ecumenical worship services for each week in Lent. Through these activities and opportunities the Canterbury Association works to enrich the lives of its participating members.

CANTERBURY

DISCIPLES STUDENT FELLOWSHIP

The campus religious organization of the Christian Church, Disciples Student Fellowship, defines its purpose as fellowship, information, and worship. The members have discussion and enjoy refreshments following the regular programs and worship on Monday evenings. In addition, the group has several parties, including a special one at Christmas. The group's official project is partial sponsorship of a child in the Christian Church's orphanage in Atlanta. The small group emphasizes the fact that meetings are open to any one of any denomination.

Wesley Fellowship, the campus unit of the Methodist Student Movement, offers the Methodist students on campus an opportunity to work together on various projects and to broaden their ideas through meaningful programs. Wednesday nights find the group waiting to go to the Methodist Boys' Farm for recreation and short devotional services. Each year before Christmas members of Wesley go caroling at the Methodist and Baptist orphanages. In the spring the organization sponsors a pancake supper the night before SEB elections in order to give the student body a chance to hear the platforms of each candidate.

METHODIST STUDENT MOVEMENT

WESTMINSTER

Westminster, the religious organization for Presbyterians at Millsaps, serves as the connecting link between church and school. Westminster meets weekly for worship, study, and fellowship; programs consist of cookouts, sings, or speakers, plus a short devotional. Early in the school year the Presbyterian churches of Jackson sponsor a progressive supper to stimulate among Millsaps students an interest in attending Sunday church services at one of these churches and to increase membership in Westminster.

ACADEMICS

Millsaps does not offer a major in art, yet student artists contribute vitally to almost every activity at the school. Players, singers, and religious groups depend upon the art department for cover designs and posters; publications use cartoons and other work done by student artists; and the advertising mediums of the college itself—filmstrips, booklets, etc.—are usually the work of an art student.

The student artist at Millsaps is, by necessity, a person of eclectic interests; for, in addition to art, he must concentrate his interest upon a major field. Yet, even with this division of time and interest, he is a productive and imaginative artist whose talent is reflected in almost every phase of campus life.

EDUCATION

The Education department at Millsaps consistently graduates more majors than any other subject area. During a single year approximately seventy-five to a hundred students practice teach in Jackson public schools under the college's student-teacher program. In order to satisfactorily complete the course each student teacher must spend fourteen weeks in a Jackson school aiding his supervising teacher and actually teaching for a minimum of sixty hours. The progress of the student is carefully observed and recorded by supervising teachers who submit weekly reports to the education department at Millsaps.

The popularity of an education major at Millsaps is due in many ways to job opportunities open to the secondary and elementary teacher. The college's student-teacher program, a combination of solid groundwork in educational theory with vital practical experience, is designed to give its future teachers a background enabling them to teach almost anywhere with a minimum of difficulty.

FORENSICS

Millsaps Youth Congress Delegation

Participation in forensic activities at Millsaps is hardly limited to the speech student. One of the major events attracting students interested in forensics as it pertains to politics is the annual Youth Congress, a mock meeting designed to give students a clearer understanding of legislative processes. This year, the December Congress attracted delegates from over fifteen institutions. Despite strong competition the Millsaps delegation succeeded in pushing three of its bills through both legislative houses and also in being selected as runner-up for the Congress Sweepstakes Award. Billy Moore, a Millsaps senior, gained further distinction by winning an individual Sweepstakes Award.

The highlights of college forensics is the Millsaps Invitational Debate Tournament, a yearly event sponsored by the Millsaps chapter of Pi Kappa Delta. Nine states and approximately thirty schools are represented at the tournament which is under the general direction of Dr. E. S. Wallace. In addition to the Millsaps tournament, the college's debate team, coached by Mr. Leon Camp, travels to approximately seven other debate meets throughout the Mid-South.

Millsaps Invitational Debate Tournament

LANGUAGES

In addition to ordinary class work, the Millsaps student has many opportunities to further his knowledge of a foreign language, not only from the standpoint of reading and writing it, but also speaking it correctly and knowing the culture and people which produced it.

The student may hear and imitate the spoken voice of the native, in the Millsaps language laboratory. Here in a weekly ritual which makes Buck Rogers and brain washing come true simultaneously, one learns a language as a child learns it—by hearing and repeating.

In addition, one may attend any one of three language tables once a week at noon. The student's digestion may not be helped, but his speaking ability will improve (at least it better, or he will starve in the process). The German students also have an extra attraction in the Deutsche Verein (German Club) which provides various programs on Germany and authentic German refreshments (at least authentic German food).

Any French student's dream can be fulfilled by the new Junior Year Abroad program offered by the college. This is a joint enterprise with Southwestern College at Memphis and Sewanee in which one may spend a year at the Institute for American Universities in Aix en Provence. Here the student may come into continuous contact with all aspects of French culture through first hand experience.

Summer school abroad. Millsaps at Bourges.

NATURAL SCIENCE

Science students, by the very nature of their highly technical field, have long been considered as somehow "set apart" from students in the two other disciplines. At Millsaps, however, a constant effort is made to give the science major a liberal arts background without sacrificing any of the intense training necessary to produce the capable and inquiring scientific mind. It is a favorite saying of Dr. J. B. Price, director of Millsaps' pre-medical course which has produced approximately three hundred and sixty doctors and dentists in the past thirty years, that "Every member of the faculty teaches pre-medical courses."

Research is an integral part of the college's scientific curriculum. Working under two grants totaling $34,065 from the National Scientific Foundation, a special group of students and faculty in 1962 moved into their second year of investigation of loess and loessal soils in the Jackson-Vicksburg area. When the program is completed an important chapter will have been added to the geological history of Mississippi.

A permanent facet of an emphasis upon research is Millsaps Gulf Research Laboratory. During the summer months the student scientists take courses involving on-the-spot research in stratigraphy, petroleum geology, and marine geology.

Millsaps research has had very tangible results. In an annual meeting of the Mississippi Academy of Sciences, Inc. held on the campus in April, five of the scholarly papers presented were the works of Millsaps students. Two students, Misses Ann Regan and Judy Brook, along with Dr. Donald Caplenor, also read papers before a regional meeting of the Association of Southeastern Biologists. These works were the direct result of study done under the National Science Foundation grant. In the field of geology, another Millsaps student, Willard S. Moore, co-authored with Dr. Richard S. Priddy a Mississippi Geological Society Bulletin treating heavy minerals found on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

One science which does not have the laboratories of the physical sciences, yet which is still a discipline seeking to employ the scientific method is social science, particularly sociology. Because they are concerned with human interrelations the social sciences must use the communities in which men live as laboratories and utilize history and economics as tools rather than Bunsen burners and thistle tubes.

In order to give the student of political science a first-hand view of American government and also a chance to broaden his background through exposure to a variety of political viewpoints, Millsaps participates in the Washington Semester program. Under this plan a student of political science attends classes at the American University in Washington, D. C., for an entire semester, usually the second one of his junior year.

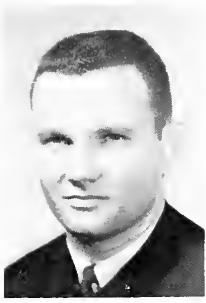

Sociology and psychology at Millsaps emphasize research and field work in addition to a solid classroom background. Because of its location—in the heart of Mississippi's largest city—Millsaps offers excellent opportunities for studies and polls involving problems of urbanization. Field trips to state institutions such as Parchman and Whitfield also constitute a vital part of practical experience in the social sciences in which even the beginning student can participate.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

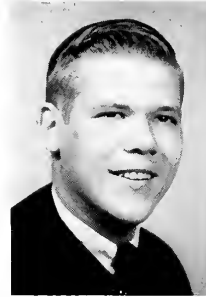

Membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honorary for men, is the highest honor which can be conferred upon a Millsaps man. In its emphasis on the development of the whole man, ODK recognizes and encourages achievement in five major facets of campus life: scholarship, athletics, student government, social and religious affairs, publications, and the arts. ODK sponsors a semi-annual Tap Day and awards scholarship trophies to the Greek organizations maintaining the highest scholastic average for the semester. The Omicron Delta Kappa key worn by its members is thus a mark of highest distinction, honor, and obligation.

Sigma Lambda, founded at Millsaps in 1934 by Omicron Delta Kappa, is maintained as a petitioning organization for Mortar Board. To be extended an invitation to membership in Sigma Lambda, a woman student must have a 2.0 overall academic average, a variety of leadership services on the campus, personal qualities suggesting leadership ability, second semester junior standing, and unanimous vote of the members. As an honorary recognizing distinctive leadership, scholarship and service, Sigma Lambda represents the highest honor a Millsaps woman can attain.

Since 1934 when Mr. H. P. Presently approximately seven hundred American colleges and ten thousand students are represented in Who's Who each year. In addition to being a distinct honor to the chosen students, the annual volume of Who's Who provides a practical go-between for employers and graduating seniors.

This year nineteen Millsaps students will appear in Who's Who. These students are chosen by the faculty and administration on the basis of scholarship, participation, and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities, citizenship, and service to the school.

Despite rumors to the effect that Chi Delta planned to remain exclusive until 1963 at which time it would be retired as an honorary for lack of members, the organization did tap someone this year. As the sister organization of Kit Kat, Chi Delta extends membership to those women who are of at least sophomore standing, whose work has been published in Stylus or entered in the Southern Literary Festival, and who have shown a persistent and sustained interest in creative writing.

Chi Delta seeks not only to recognize achievement in the literary arts, but to encourage interest in creative writing among all Millsaps women. The group meets irregularly in dormitories, the grill, and hallways.

KIT KAT

PRESIDENT

Robert Aldridge

Kit Kat derives its name from an eighteenth century tavern where the authors of the day met to eat, drink, smoke, and talk. The members of Kit Kat likewise meet together to eat, drink, smoke, and talk. They are a small, pleasant, tweedy group who find comfort in knowing that they are the oldest, most exclusive honorary on the campus. They are assured that only the most kindred souls who have shown ability and diligent, repeated devotion to the literary arts will be admitted into their ranks. Primarily, however, the members have the self-assurance that, contrary to the beliefs of less comfortable individuals, Kit Kat will never exclude itself out of existence (nor will it include itself out of a comfortable size).

GREEKS

AN AGELESS PATTERN

Why does the unsuspecting freshman rush to be rushed? Who knows?—certainly not the unsuspecting freshman. This phenomenon can only be credited to the unexplained presence of a myth.

An integral part of this myth is the ritual of rush. This ritual never starts, nor does it ever end. It is as vital to the Greek world as propagation is to the species. It is always either planned for, participated in, or looked back upon with some pride, some regret, and eternal optimism in planning for it again. The year could be 1930, or 1953, '62 or '74; fashions change; faces change; but the Greeks never.

The "plan for" period depends on the ingenuity of the particular group. This segment of the rush ritual reduces the sorority (always the better organized) into a crepe paper, tundra paint beehive where elaborate plans, rivaled only by Plato's Republic or Marx's Das Kapital, are expounded upon by seemingly "sweet young things" suddenly transformed into organization Amazons and administrative Valkyries (before the somewhat startled eyes of the new initiates).

For the fraternity, this is a time of applied, though awkward, masculinity, during which such undefined, indefinable terms as "good boy" or the devastating "hot box" are mercilessly juggled.

Then it is September—the time of the acid test, the time of "participating in." The September rush is a paradoxical time of brutal exhaustion and adrenalin drive, profound disillusionment and equally profound elation, soul-searching sincerity and soul-quenching hypocrisy.

This rite-like rhythm is punctuated by "so glad to see you" (WHAT IS THAT GIRL'S BOY'S NAME?); "so you're a Sanskrit major" (WHAT IS SANSKRIT?); "you know my sister" (HOW WELL?); "your father is on the Board of Trustees, oh my" (LORD!). And there is always the smile—that face cracking, feature distorting, will-it-ever-end smile.

Overriding and overruling all of the personal emotions is the apparently endless plod to class—plod to get dressed—plod to the house—skit or smoker—plod to eat—bid session (laughter, tears, laughter, rage)—plod to bed (which really doesn't exist)—and plod to class again.

Then eternity ends except for a final almost eternal period of waiting—waiting for the pay-off, waiting for the reward, waiting for the new blood that will bring more new blood, ad infinitum. A brief he-really-came our way and the faithful wonder-what-she went, then it seems to be ended. But it is not over, just as it was not over in 1930 or 1953; just as it will not be over in 1962 or '74. The place is the same. The rhythmical plod is the same. The myth is the same. Only the characters differ.

OLD

As the rush season ritual propagates the fraternal organization, other rites give it form and purpose. Every fraternity man is a self-fancied knight who can trace his fraternal lineage back to Arthur if called upon. Every sorority sister is a lady-in-waiting (for many things) who can claim the ancestry of everything from Greek mysteries to Medieval cults.

There is no Greek alive who cannot claim a deep-rooted, almost primeval excitement derived from his or her group's formal ceremonies. The "active meeting" fulfills a need which in former times would have been satisfied with a Thanksgiving rite for a good fall harvest or a sewer-meeting resistance cult in the French Revolution. The priest's incantation, the revolutionist's handshake, the outlaw's secret strategy are all bound up in the meeting.

The rhythm of the cult and the chivalry of the knight cannot be seen only in the formal initiation ceremony but also in those unofficial initiation ceremonies and in a variety of other rites. While fraternity men joust on the speedball field, the lady-fairs are innocently winding flower chains for Song Fest. While the men are paddling away at neophytes, white-robed women are marching single file, lit by white candles, bearing white posies. While the men are throwing one of their number successful in love into a shower or more copious body of water, the girls are clustered around some comparable one, shrieking with unbridled glee.

NEW MEMORIES

All of these varied rites and rythms are combined and culminated in two actions which give the fraternal organization its final meaning. These two actions are the forming of close ties of friendship within the fraternity or sorority and those bitter-sweet inter-actions which are society and, most of all, courtship.

The doings of the fraternal organizations as a group range in every category from a close and serious study of how to get the rats out of the house to writing a skit based on the Divine Comedy and yet containing allusions to the political situation or some satire-worthy faculty member. The fraternity can break into saccrine, sentimental cantatas at the drop of a drop as well as a blushing assortment of backroom bawdy in celebration of Saturday night.

Whether it be a formal dance, a coast spent weekend, a picnic in a woodsy spot, or a sorority night at the house, the fraternal organization is always ready with some excuse to mix with the opposite sex. Under the benevolent, sanctifying eyes of bridge table chained chaperones, the Greek can be seen on any weekend, writhing to the blatant ceremonial beats of a rock and roll band.

What is this madness? It is the myth, the why of the Greeks. In these group activities is a genuine friendliness and camaraderie. The Greeks are forever on the move; forever building a mental scrapbook which will be opened and reopened with a wistful smile. Are the scrapbooks essentially different? No, not in 1930 or 1953, '62 or '74. Only the fashions and faces change. The reality of the myth never does.

BETA SIGMA OMICRON

For no obvious reason, every sorority seems to acquire for itself one outstanding characteristic. For the Beta Sig's, that characteristic is in some way connected with the human voice. From the nightingale strains which put so many of this sorority in the Concert Choir and the Madrigals, to the "whoops" (which remind one of the call-to-battle noises on a destroyer) they emit at an intersorority volleyball game, this sorority is always there noise wise.

The Beta Sig's make other noises too. One leather-lunged member helps lead the cheers at the Millsaps football games. Others lent their brass to the chorus of "Destry Rides Again." Members with more authoritative tones serve as president of the Majorette Club and the secretary of the Student Body. That battle-station whoop seems to have done this group some good because they walked off with the 1961 Volleyball Trophy.

Beta Sigma Omicron has been on campus since 1926 at which time one of its members was Mrs. Ross Barnett (what this fact has to do with noise, one can merely guess).

CHI OMEGA

That little white house behind the plaque that states, "Chi Omega Fraternity" (one of the truly misleading signs of our time) seems to house a very special breed of females. One of the main characteristics of these females (besides the always apparent fact that they are females) is that they are so adept in a well manicured nailing of such little baubles as the ODK scholarship trophy, four top spots (including the first) in the Millsaps beauty contest, two memberships in Who's Who, a presidency of Sigma Lambda, and election to the list of campus favorites.

In return for these little trifles, the members of Chi O perform many services for the campus. Some of the more tangible include the traditional Chi Omega Social Science Award (what could be more appropriate) on Honors Day, the annual Owl Man award to some Chi O-type dream boy (the last one being Aristotle Onassis, now graduated), and a yearly campus Song Fest which includes the extra attraction of a struggle between a hand-picked team of Chi O's and a hand-picked chain of daisies.

KAPPA DELTA

To join Kappa Delta means to solve all female clothing problems for the remaining four college years. All that is required of a prospective KD is a very clinging, very black dress and a very un-clinging, very white dress. The black one is worn to Song Fest; the white one, to some mystic sweet rite called initiation and some trystic, sweet night called the White Rose Ball.

The symbolism of these colors is a matter of conjecture, but there is no conjecture about the girls who wear them. The members of KD claim among their number the treasurer of the Student Body, the president of the WSGA, one of the top beauties, Pi Kappa Alpha's Dream Girl, the BOBASHELA editor, two Sigma Lambda members, and two Who's Who members. The group counts among its honors a scholarship award at the thirty-fourth annual Kappa Delta convention and first place in the 1961 Song Fest (proving the esthetic value of black sheaths). The KD's also won a second place at this year's Stunt Night where they broke tradition by presenting a skit with no racial implications (proving the esthetic value of black sheaths over blacked faces).

PHI MU

This year, passers-by on North President are startled to discover that a new house has appeared seemingly overnight. In actuality, the Phi Mu house has been there several years; but because of an economy-size jungle which flourished around it, only the initiated could find it. "Les Soeurs Fideles" finally decided that it was time for a change and sent an urgent appeal to the brothers of Lambda Chi Alpha (to whom they had long served as the women-behind-the-throne) to come chop away the tangle.

In keeping with the mature growth of jungle around the house, Phi Mu is the oldest sorority on campus. In keeping with the Lamba Chi's, three members are currently serving in the Lambda Chi Crescent Court, one of them being the Crescent Girl. Other Phi Mu's cum laude include the treasurer of Sigma Lambda and secretary of both IRC and Eta Sigma Phi; the vice-president of Alpha Psi Omega and star of the Players' production of "Destry Rides Again"; the president of Panhellenic; and the 1962 Homecoming Queen, also a member of Who's Who.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

The Panhellenic Council of Millsaps College strives to further active cooperation and understanding among the sororities, non-sorority women, and the college; to promote high scholastic achievement; to maintain high social standards; and to conduct worthy projects. The Council is composed of the presidents and two representatives of each sorority. Panhellenic's principal endeavor concerns the establishment, supervision, and regulation of rushing rules.

Annually Panhellenic contributes fifty dollars in payment for the school lunches of a Jackson Methodist orphan. In 1962 a scholarship was founded by the group to be awarded to a worthy Millsaps Greek woman each year.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council of Millsaps College is the coordinating body of the four men's social fraternities on campus. It functions to further social fraternity relations at the college, to unify fraternity action with regard to common problems, to act as a medium between the college and the individual social organizations, and to unite the fraternities in a spirit of brotherhood.

The membership of the Council is composed of two elected representatives from each fraternity. Officers are chaired by a system of rotation, which places a delegate from each fraternity in an office each year.

KAPPA ALPHA

"It's a grand old gang and together we'll hang" (out the windows and wait for the thirty-one bids to materialize). And so we leave another wonderful evening with the KA's, loaded down with magnolias, mint juleps, Confederate money, and pieces of the true Traveler. We look fondly behind us to see the brothers (all LXXIV of them) clustered around the Stars and Bars illuminated by-the-light-of-burning-Yankees, plotting the next Secession.

Among their numbers, we see two black ODK robes (offering a pleasing contrast to the others which are unanimously White) and two cheer-leading costumes.

We hear counterpointed against the strains of Dixie, the typewriter clacking of the two KA's who are the co-editors of the P&W and the one who is the business manager and the editor of Major Facts. We also hear the administrative cries of the presidents of Pi Kappa Delta and AED mingled with the close harmony of three of the celebrated Coachmen.

The KA's brighten the social life of the campus in many ways of Old South gentility, not the least of them being the annual Black and White Ball (which may or may not be genteel but is certainly Old South).

KAPPA SIGMA

The members of Kappa Sigma are devout believers in the adage, "All things come to those who sit and wait." They are such devout believers, in fact, that they can be seen sitting and waiting in front of their house almost any clear day. They sit and wait to be muscular in front of any passing car-load of young things who revere them as the campus Adonis symbols. They sit and wait to win any up and coming athletic contest. They sit and wait to throw over-ripe pledges at any passing member of another fraternity or any other disgustingly active group that might challenge their right to sit and wait. Most of all they sit and wait for a termite to consume the last supporting beam of their house (hence they do their sitting and waiting outside).

The things which have come to the waiting Sigs are the Grand Scribe's Award for contributions to their national magazine, as well as such offices as the vice president of Circle K, the Greek co-editor of the Bobashela, the president and secretary-treasurer of the "M" Club, the co-captain of the football team, and the president of the Interfraternity Council.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Each year, rush season is started by giving the unsuspecting freshman a copy of the Major Facts and one of the Cross and Crescent Glossary (published by Berlitz). In this volume is a handy pronouncing dictionary of the handy phrases indispensable to get along in the LXA house (an example being yes: better known as takeahit and no: takeamiss). Not to speak of talent in forming new languages, the LXA's also have great ability in sticking a crest on anything with sleeves and calling it a blazer and in clearing sorority jungles.

The unique language does not seem to hinder this group in walking away with the honors, one of the most important being an abnormal number of ODK scholarship cups. Lambda Chi Alpha can count among its members the president of the Ministerial League, the president of the Junior Class, a state oratorical winner, the president of Schiller Gesellschaft, the editor of Stylus, the copy editor of the Bobashela and the amusements editor of the P&W.

The LXA's are a good group or as they would say, "straight."

No, it's the Pike chapter—suave from the top of their secret chapter room (which is really a warehouse for Old Spice products) to the bottom of their pin-striped snooker table—neat from their Harvey T. ATHLETICS

ATHLETICS AT MILLSAPS

The idea behind varsity athletics at Millsaps is so rare in America today that it stands out as almost unique among intercollegiate program. At Millsaps, varsity athletics are held to be instructional courses, classes in which lessons are taught and learned.

In harmony with the concept of the function of the liberal arts college—to produce a well-rounded educated man who can think and act in the best interest of himself, his family, and his community—the athletic program at Millsaps is used to instruct young men in values that are necessary for a successful life in modern society. Today's man needs to know the value of struggle, cooperation, and competition. He needs to know the value of retaining individuality while becoming a part of a team.

From the Athletic Policy of Millsaps College

Athletes receive no scholarships for participation in the Millsaps sports program and are not in any way subsidized. However there is no discrimination for or against athletes in the awarding of academic scholarships and other regular financial aid.

Intramurals provide sports participation for a large segment of the Millsaps student body. Whether it be on the volleyball court, the softball diamond, or the speedball field, the intramural program has a unifying effect on the campus through the wholesome competition which results.

FOOTBALL '61

James A. Montgomery, Athletic Director

Associate professor of education with his doctorate in that field, Dr. James A. Montgomery is a man of thoroughness and foresight, evidenced by the effective way in which he directs the Department of Athletics and Physical Education. Now serving as head basketball and football backfield coach, he became a member of the Millsaps faculty in 1959.

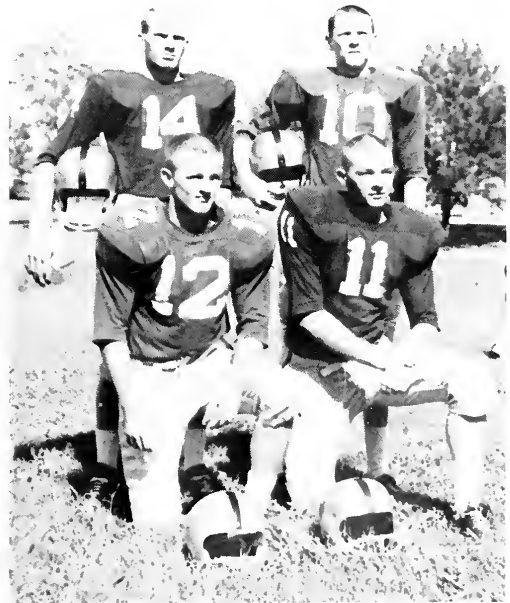

Coach Montgomery is directly responsible for several important improvements in the department. He initiated a recruiting program for all sports, began a quarterly bulletin for alumni, revitalized the "M" Club, and redesigned the purposes of the intramural program. One of his major contributions to the varsity athletic program has been better scheduling, which is partly responsible for the upward trend in Millsaps sports.

Forward Charlie Smith Breaks Millsaps College Scoring Record

Charlie Smith, 6'3" sophomore, from Murfreesboro, Tennessee, broke the Millsaps intercollegiate scoring record for a regulation game Monday night in Bule Gym with 39 points against St. Bernard.

Dropping them in from his forward position, Charlie broke the previous record of 37 points, which he, himself, had set earlier in the year in the Huntington game.

Prior to Smith's efforts as a Major, the scoring record now stood at 36 points held by Phil Wallace, now a sports writer for the "Jackson Daily News." Larry Marrett is third on the list, having hit 29 points several times during the 1959-60 season, against Ogden and Howard. These statistics do not include benefit and tournament games.

Smith, playing in his second full season with the prime offensive scoring threat for the charges of Coach Jim Montgomery. Again we heartily congratulate Charlie on his record and hope to see him shatter this new mark in the near future.

Bobby Whiteside's freshman team finished the season with a winning 8-6 record, the best frosh performance seen in recent years at Millsaps. The freshmen competed with area junior colleges, senior college freshman teams, and members of the Jackson City League. As a senior history major Whiteside gained valuable pre-graduation coaching experience.

BAKER'S DOZEN

By LEE BAKER
DAILY NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Love That Buie Gym Home Floor -Majors Won 8 Of 12 There

Home certainly is where the heart is for the Millsaps Majors. Taken from the familiar timbers of Buie Gym, the Purple simply pines away. But on home ground, the Militant Methodists will give anyone a plain show.

Perhaps the Millsaps basketweavers do not have a home floor advantage. But they certainly operate under a handicap away from Buie for in 11 games this season on the road they have yet to win.

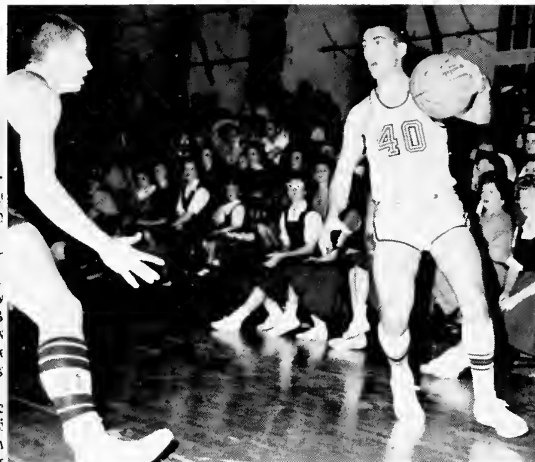

Yet on their own hardwood, the Majors have cut down eight of 12 opponents, including some fair - to - middling clubs, such as William Carey College last night and the likes of Lambuth, Birmingham Southern and Belmont earlier.

When Millsaps loses at Buie Gym, it usually is one - sided. At least that was the way it went this season. East Texas Baptist did in the Majors by 88-66, Huntingdon by 110-91, Bernard by 95-84 and Southeastern Louisiana by 89-78.

But when the Majors were home, the habit has been to pull 'em out in heart - s - fashion.

Their first two successes came by a point differential of 1961-62 over Belmont and 65-64 over Lambuth, then a 79-72 over Little Rock U., a driving finish produced a 56-54 conquest of Birmingham Southern and last night's 89 - 85 hairbreadth nipping of Carey.

SPRING SPORTS

With a fairly experienced infield and an outfield composed of mostly new men, the Major baseball team faced a schedule which included Delta State, Mississippi Southern, Southwestern, and Sewanee, all 1962 baseball powerhouses. At the beginning of the season it appeared that if the pitching staff of one veteran and several promising prospects came through, Coach Flavious Smith's nine would have a strong attack. The Millsaps track, once the site of all principal meets in the state, experienced a major reworking program which was begun to make it one of the best in the state. Both the track and golf teams were re-established in 1961, with Dr. Charles Cain and Miss Mary Ann Edge continuing as coaches this year. The golf team boasts Mary Mills, State Women's Amateur champion for the last eight consecutive years. Coached by Mr. David Bowen, the tennis team faced a schedule including Vanderbilt and teams of similar caliber.

Speedball Needs Abolishing

Third, congratulations are due to the Intramural Council for their ruling on speedball for the rest of the year. The decision to do away with speedball was made, by the way, not by the Intramural Council and its members, but by a vote of three to one, with one member not being present at the meeting.

In my opinion, it was high time to do away with it for good and finally.

There are five good reasons to do away with the barbaric practice of pitting nine men against nine other men without padding or protection of any kind and then trying to see who has the most men left able to walk at the end of the game. First, the split and ill feeling between the fraternities is being made worse and worse by the practice of spe-

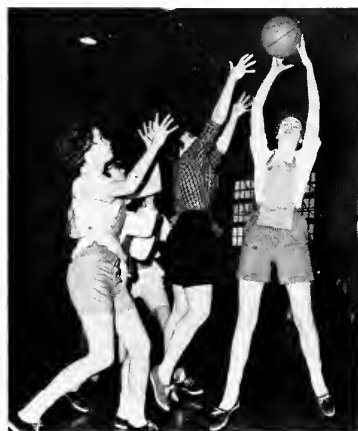

“bosses” and heroes at the fraternity house.

Fourth; there were numerous injuries. When one member of a team admitted to me that he was actually trying to kill people on the speedball field, and made the foolish statement, “I find it much easier to block a dead person, because they don’t stop you at all”, I saw how foolish there on the hill for blood.

Fifth, it is unsupervised or no supervision even if it takes

STUDENT LIFE

Ah, fellows, come back inside . . . it's only a mouse.

Are you sure that was the North State Street bus?

I don't know what it is, but it'd make a cute lamp.

"... for their next number the Soviet Army Chorus will sing..."

"Hello, again, from Tokyo Rose"

"Let's see, that's M-E-I... Uh .. M-I-E..."

"Hanne, it's not THAT kind of party!"

"All right, I'll wear them, but do they have to be scarlet?"

"No, I don't know 'Patricia'."

"Because it doesn't match the curtains in the den, that's why!"

"It's a deal ... $4.50 for the whole shelf."

"Hello ... Butterfield 8?"

"Somewhere over the rainbow ..."

"Pay attention, dear, the minister's talking to you."

"... From Esquire? Well, in that case ..."

"... got a girl in every port, babe, babe ..."

"Four kings, now take off your shoe."

"How should I know . . . they just moved in yesterday."

"You and that darn pea-shooter!"

"So what if you can't type, you're hired!"

"Yes, I've just finished my autobiography: it's called 'The World of . . .'"

"Just be sure to mail it in a plain brown wrapper."

"Then we get in and drive off just like it's ours."

"The Peppermint w..."
